BELLINGHAM HIGH SCHOOL

Bellingham, Massachusetts

In the Following Pages . . .

. . . we, the members of the class of 1961, present a brief picture of our four-year career at Bellingham High School.

However, the pictures and essays in this, the Epilogue of '61, are only a small portion of our memories of B.H.S. Our four years brought with them many amusing happenings. When we look back and remember those first confused days, one question comes to mind, "How did we get so lost in such a small school?" We recall with delight Al's great speech, "I am a clown, I am a clown, I am a clown." Then there was the trouble "Wiseguy" Lucchesi could never seem to avoid. How we roared the day Roland sat in Mr. Flynn's wastebasket. Never shall we look at carrots or celery without thinking of Gil's lunches. These are only a few of the memories we'll always cherish. Recall the endless miles of prom streamers, the shortage of flowers, the black and orange tickets, and the grass borrowed from the cemetery. Remember those gallons of beans left over from the supper, Emile's everpresent camera, the typing and home ec. classes, Ronnie's banged-up nose, and the afterschool staff meetings.

And now, as our days together draw to a close, we proudly present our Epilogue, featuring highlights of our years at B. H. S.

Dedication

Dear Mr. Trudeau:

Because you exemplify all the traits we would like to acquire for our own personalities and characters, and because we are grateful for the guidance and patience that made all our Senior activities possible; we, the graduating class of 1961, take great pride and pleasure in dedicating our Epilogue to you.

Class Song

(To the tune of Wonderland by Night)

Our high school years
Together as a happy class . . .
The mem'ries made
Will forever last and last . . .

Our Freshman year
Began these memories
With great confusion.
Passing soon,
Our Sophomore year approached us.
Oh, those memories.

Then we were Juniors
Thinking of our Prom and rings.
Mem'ries of friendship,
And life at B. H. S. . . .

"The" year was here at last:
The previous ones had fled so fast.
Now Graduation
Approaches with a smile and tear.

Now is the time,
The future's dawn will
Soon appear before us.
May our knowledge guide us
Through the future
After B. H. S.

Now we are leaving;
Our memories will never die.
All through the years
Rememb'ring B. H. S. . . .

Class Prophecy

SETTING: Linda's and Armande's Lightning Travel Agency in St. Louis.

TIME: 1971

LINDA: My, today is a slow day, business has never been this dull.

ARMANDE: I've got an idea. Let's take a ride in our private rocket ship and see what our former classmates are doing now.

LINDA: Boy, this ship is certainly safe and comfortable!

ARMANDE: No wonder, it was designed and built by the Anderson Spacecraft Industry under the direct supervision of Arthur Anderson and Donald Brunelle.

LINDA: Let's take turns, Armande. First I'll take the controls while you sit in the observation seat. On our return trip, you can pilot the ship.

ARMANDE: ZOOM! That's a fast start. Here we are over Chicago already. There's a big neon sign down there. Go down a little lower so I can read it. It says "Bob Conte's Men Shop, featuring knee length knickers, argyle longies, and Bermuda shorts."

And way over here there's a billboard advertising a new children's television program starring Carl Heintz and Barbara Eldredge. It's called "Doobee Doodirlsanboys." Now we're over Ron Muise's hairdressing shop. He specializes in cutting pony tails off at the elastic. His interest seems to have grown from pulling them to cutting them. That building down there is the Flea-Free Rug Company where Ray Casavant is a rugbug picker.

Here in Hollywood is where Elizabeth Stockton was lately seen modeling a new Paris creation. It's a gown called the "Hourglass." Now we're over the reducing salon owned by Gilbert Rainville and Henri Masson. Their motto is "Less bounce to the ounce." Here's the dancing school owned by Georgette Laprade and Albert Allard.

I hear Georgette specializes in the twist. Now let's fly over to see Mary Jane Locklin and Arlene Hughes. Voom! That was a close call. There goes Bob Lavallee in his supersonic jet plane. He's quite a stunt flyer you know!

Well, here we are in Brazil, right over the Caffene Coffee Co. where Arlene works as private secretary to a coffee sipper and Mary Jane counts 43 beans in every cup. Have you heard from Connie Godin or Carol Lucchesi?

LINDA: Yes, Connie and Carol are well known authors. Carol's latest book is entitled "The Secret Life of Paul Ozella."

ARMANDE: Here we are over Arabia. I can see Richard Gordon down there. He's an Arabian Sultan now and has a harem of 125 wives. I'll take the controls now, Linda, you have a look. Where to?

LINDA: England, to see Gerry Pelland. He has his Bachelor of Arts Degree. He always said staying a bachelor was an art. Oooh! there's a parade going on down there. Go down a little, I can't see through this fog. That's Judy Graves riding in a red convertible. On the door it says Fire Chief. I see some one else wearing a badge, I think it's Roland Dufresne. He's a Truant Officer in the town where Judy is Fire Chief. Now back to the States . . .

I hear that Bob Rouleau has a job as a piano tuner, but spends most of his time shopping so he can save enough green stamps to buy an orange Cadillac. Now we're flying over Maine where Paul Hreczuch and Joan Callahan are French teachers in a little school nearby. Their pupils bring them pea soup instead of apples for inspiration. Oh, there's a billboard with Doris Skogstrom's picture and a message saying she's going to give a talk, "My travels into the darkest jungles of Africa." Ronald Beauregard was voted Litterbug of the year. When asked for a comment, he merely said that this ability was started way back in his high school days.

We're right over Bellingham now. I can see Arthur Desmarais in front of the town hall. He is still as patriotic as ever. He babysits for busy parents so they can go out to vote. Here's the Who's Who Neuro-psychiatric Hospital. Carol Lacaillade is a nurse there and even she sometimes wonders who's who. Here in Ny. is the home of Joan Daley, a famous costume designer. She originated the costume for the Purple People Eater. And there's the G.E. building. Emile Blanchette is a bulbsnatcher there. Look at that building, it's all striped! That must be Marcel LeBlanc's paint factory. He manufactures striped paint.

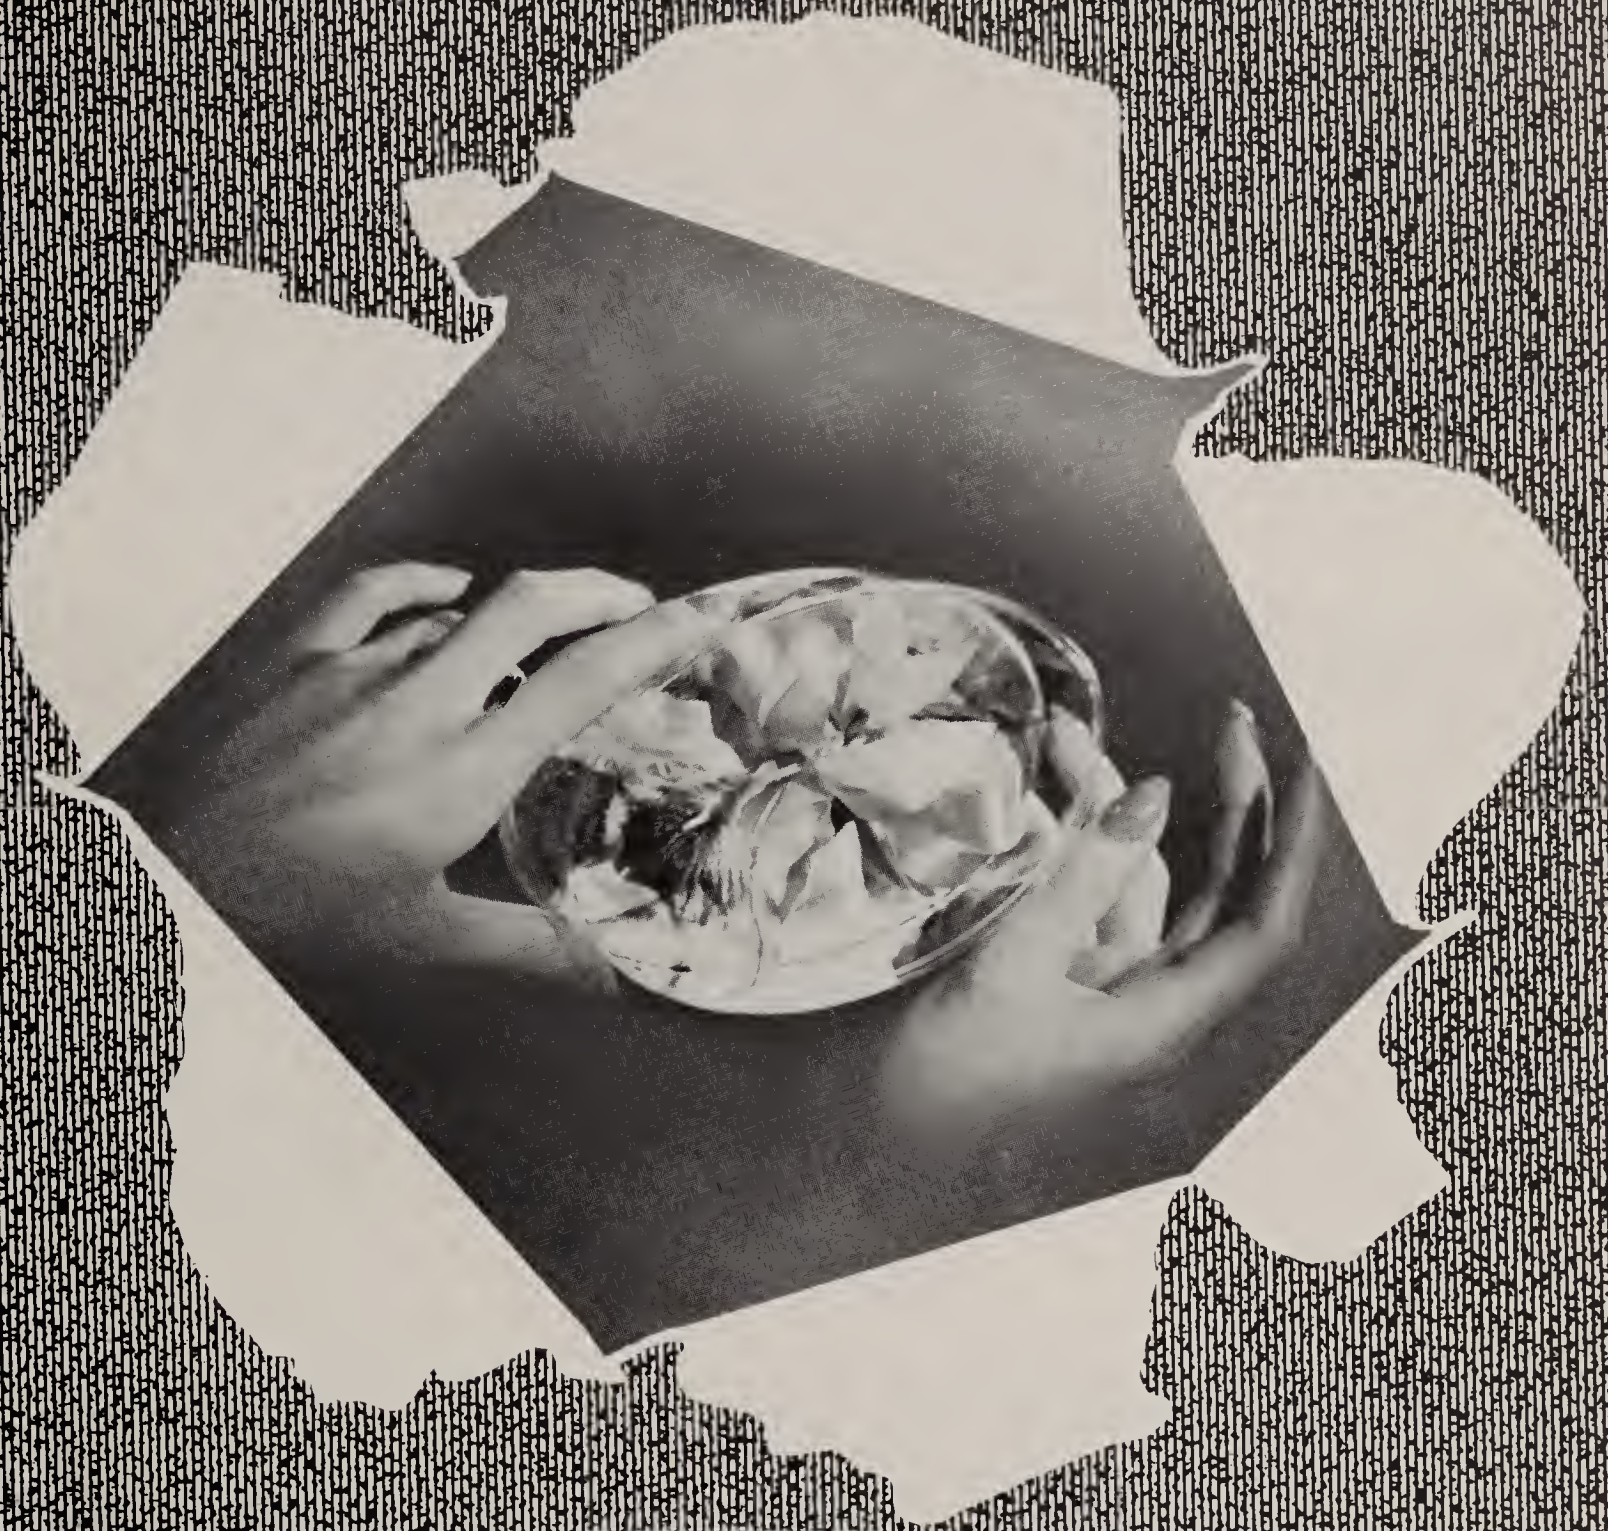

ARMANDE: It's not hard to understand how our own classmates could be so successful. Remember what an exceptional group we were?

LINDA: We really were but we'd better get back to our travel agency.

ARMANDE: Yes, let's.

Class History

SEPTEMBER 1957 to JUNE 1958 - - FRESHMEN

In September of 1957 we entered the High School with 58 members in our class. Our first task was the election of class officers. They were Douglas Welsh, President; Phillip Masse, Vice-President; Serina Campanelli, Secretary; and Linda Chaplin, Treasurer. David Jarrett and Judy Graves were our Student Council members. Our class advisors were Mr. Conlan and Mr. Constine. Our class was the first to be "Welcomed" rather than initiated by the seniors. That evening we were guests of the seniors at the Freshman Acquaintance Party. Our first social event, the Valentine Dance, held in February, was very successful, and our treasury began to grow.

June came quickly and with it the class trip to Nantasket and the end of our first year in B. H. S.

SEPTEMBER 1958 TO JUNE 1959 - - SOPHOMORES

Upon returning in the Fall, we found 49 members in our class. Elections of officers were held again. Douglas Welsh was elected President; Gilbert Rainville, Vice-President; Armande Beauregard, Secretary; Linda Wasylean, Treasurer; Judy Graves and Ken Normandin, Student Council. Our class advisors were Mrs. Kelley and Mrs. Baskin.

That year we held a Thanksgiving Dance and our treasury grew even more.

Another class trip to Nantasket ended our Sophomore year.

SEPTEMBER 1959 - JUNE 1960 - - JUNIORS

Our membership was then 52.

At the beginning of the year we elected class officers. The officers were: Robert Conte, President; Gerald Pelland, Vice-President; Armande Beauregard, Secretary; Linda Wasylean, Treasurer; Carol Squadrito and Ronald Muise, Student Council. Our class advisors were Mrs. Kelley and Mrs. Markee.

A Harvest Dance, which added to our treasury, was held in late October. We also selected our class rings, which we received before our Christmas vacation.

This year we were allowed to print the "Student Voice." Robert Conte was elected editor; Armande Beauregard, Assistant editor. Staff members were Emile Blanchette, Georgette Laprade, Joan Daley, Arthur Desmarais and Doris Skogstrom.

Early in March we began to prepare for the Junior Prom. April Love was chosen as the theme. Colors were pink, orchid and yellow. April 29 was the big night. We danced to the music of the Mellowtones. Our king and queen were Barbara Eldredge and Ronald Muise.

Before leaving school for the year, we chose our Senior Club representatives.

SEPTEMBER 1960 - JUNE 1961 - - SENIORS

There were now only 35 of us left.

The first task of our Senior year was to elect class officers. They were: Robert Conte, President; Roland Dufresne, Vice-President; Armande Beauregard, Secretary; Linda Wasylean, Treasurer; Joan Daley and Gilbert Rainville, Student Council. Mr. Trudeau and Mrs. Baker were our class advisors. A Ham and Bean Supper and a Raffle were our next projects.

Late in September we honored the Freshmen at the Acquaintance Dance. The Christmas Dance was our next big event.

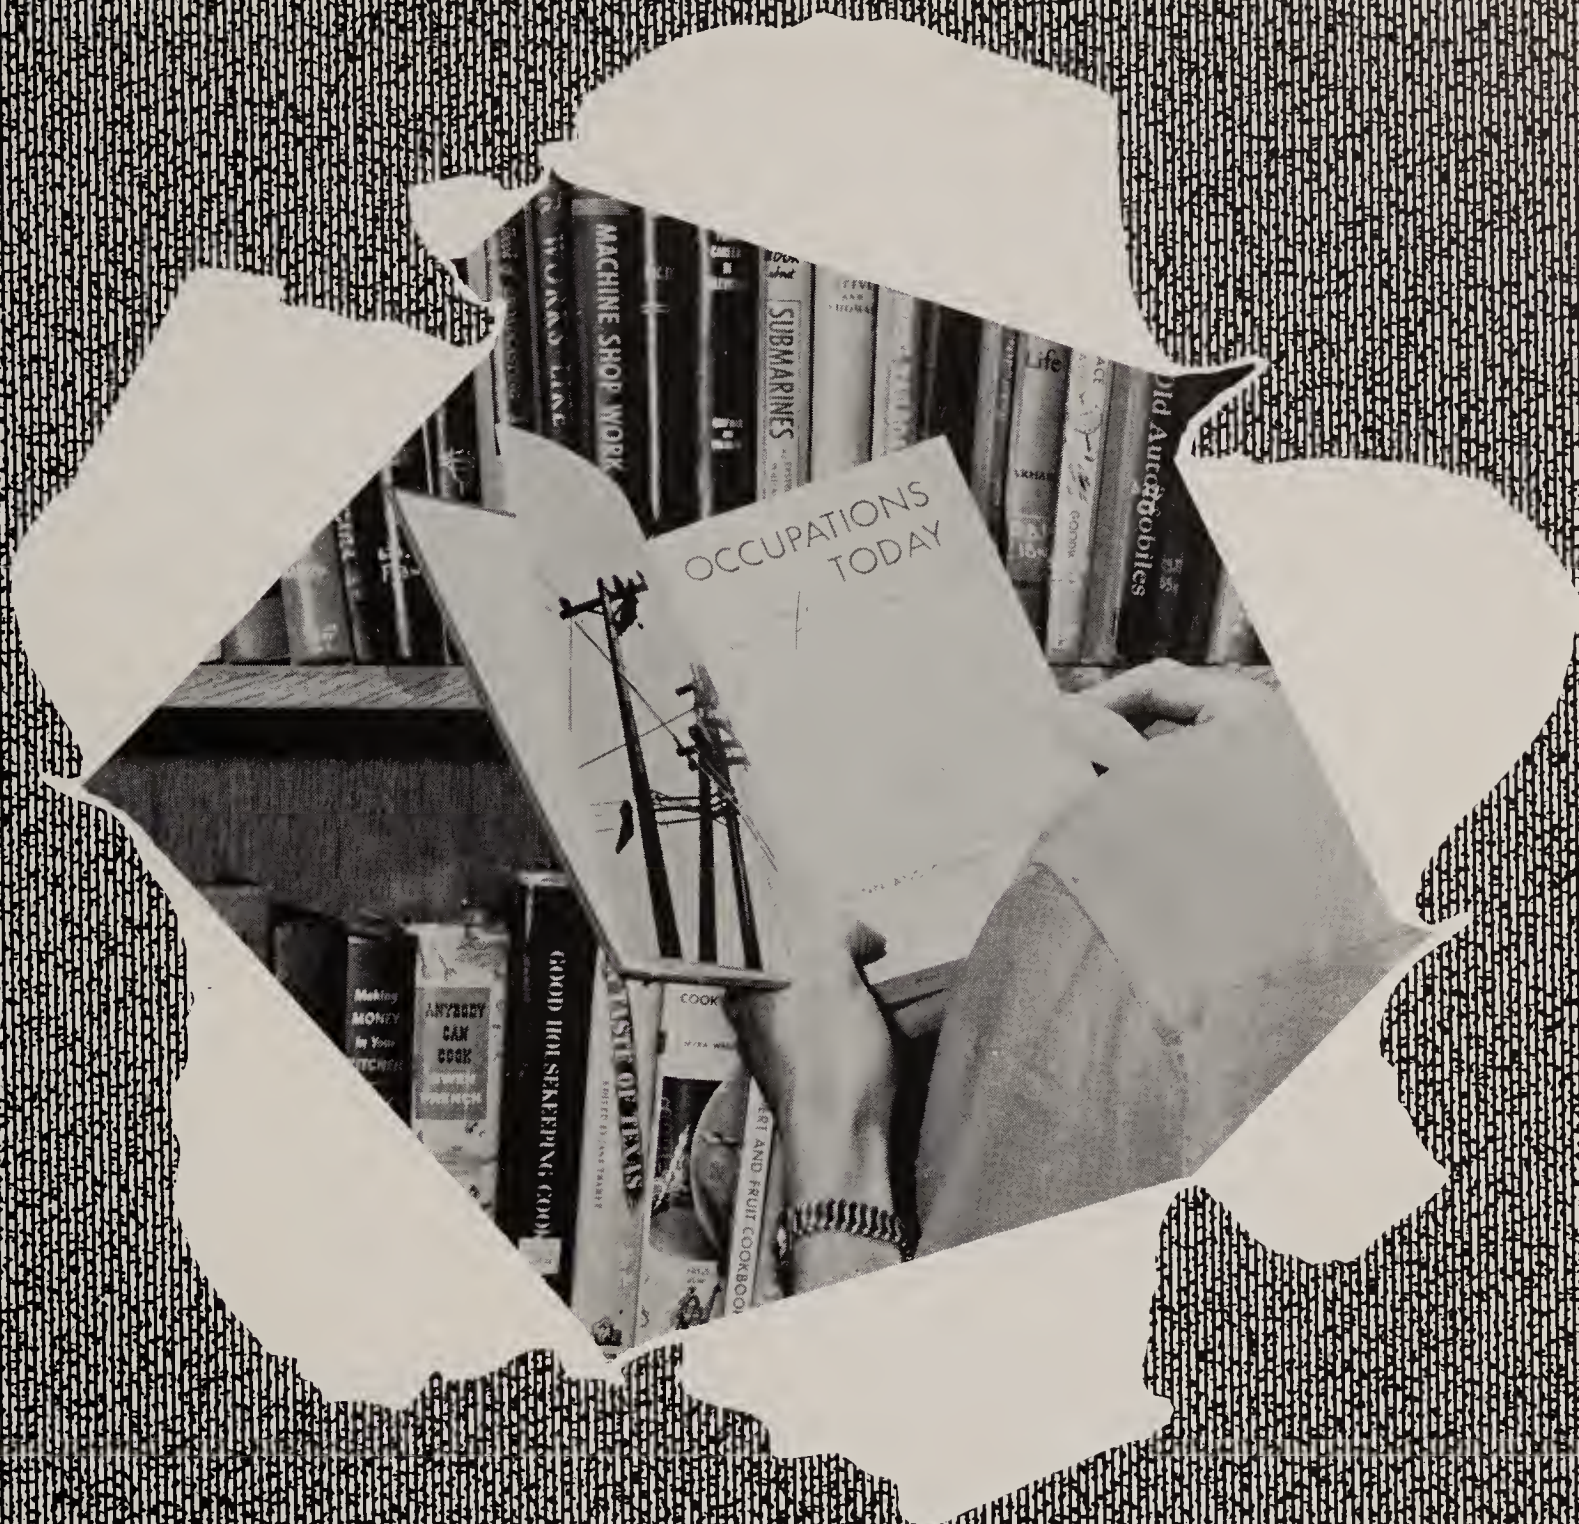

Work on the yearbook began in January. Joan Daley and Doris Skogstrom were elected editors. Other staff members were Barbara Eldredge, Armande Beauregard, Albert Allard, Arthur Desmarais, Emile Blanchette and Ronald Muise.

Our Washington trip in April was an event we will never forget.

We have relived our four years in just a few short minutes. We will graduate and the Commencement Ball will be the last social event of our high school years.

Class Will

We, the class of 1961, being of sound mind (?) and body, declare this to be our last will and testament, and request that all other documents (forged or otherwise), I.O.U.'s and foolish promises, be declared null and void.

To Mr. Minnichiello we leave our deepest gratitude and respect for his devoted service to our students and our schools. To Mr. Collins, all the words left unspoken when he walked in and stood over us in class.

To Mr. Trudeau, we leave an extra large bottle of aspirin for all the headaches our Senior class gave him. To Mrs. Kelley, a book entitled "How to Cheer Up Unloved, Unwanted, and Friendless Senior Classes." To Mr. Niedzwiadek, a megaphone to make it easier for him to communicate with his large business class. To Mr. Conlan, a year's supply of stationery for those letters to his favorite senators. To Mr. Flynn, a smoke detector for the A.A. buses. To Mr. Price, a pair of yellow and black striped suspenders. To Miss Webster, a pillbox in which to put her car on cold winter nights. To Mr. DeHertogh, empty seats in Democracy class. To Mrs. Baker, a sign for her Home Economics door reading: "Hungry Boys, Keep Out!" To Mr. Trudeau and Mrs. Hayes, the newest edition of "Freshman Frolics." To Mr. Lemire, we leave Richard Ridolfi to help him with his chores.

Linda Wasylean leaves to next year's senior class treasurer, the job of paying coke bills and collecting senior dues.

Doris Skogstrom leaves the stripped gears of the driver-Ed. car to anyone who has the courage to try to do any better with them.

Elizabeth Stockton leaves her ability to get along with people to Gary Thayer... (as if he needs it!).

Bobby Rouleau leaves all his Chem. notes to Rene Trudeau, if he can find them!

Gilbert Rainville leaves Dennis Roy for Mr. Price (to "pick on").

Jerry Pelland leaves all the blisters he got during track season to Alfred Laime.

Paul Ozella leaves all the pleasant memories of his high school days to Judy Mostek.

Ron Muise leaves his ability to get along with the Janitor to anyone who is rough, tough, and oh, so very mean.

Henry Masson leaves all his arguments in French class to Roger Gaboury.

Mary Jane Locklin leaves her height to Jackie Goryl.

Carol Lacaille leaves her reveries to Sue Lavallee.

Bob Lavallee leaves to Leo Ladouceur a condensed version of the book "How to Cope with Shorthand." It's called "Quit While You're Ahead."

Georgette Laprade leaves her sister, Sue, to a certain Sophomore boy.

Carol Lucchesi leaves her quiet (?) ways in French class to Gilbert Trudeau in case he ever feels like living it up.

Marcel LeBlanc leaves his copper car to anyone who likes to fix flats.

Paul Hreczuch leaves his love to those certain Sophomore girls.

Richard Gordon also leaves his love to a certain Sophomore girl . . . his sister!

Arlene Hughes . . . just leaves . . . gladly!

Connie Godin leaves her ability to drive to Betty Gardner.

Judy Graves leaves to next year's seniors the trouble of leaving something in the will.

Barbara Eldredge leaves to Bob Rhoads her ability to get along with the teachers and . . . the principal.

Joan Daley leaves to the editor of next year's yearbook, a king-sized headache and a bottle of Bufferin to go along.

Roland Dufresne leaves all his old song sheets to Roger Remillard.

Arthur Desmarais leaves his early morning sunny disposition to Mrs. Kelley during first period class.

Donald Brunelle leaves his history classes to Eddie Lemire because he knows he needs the rest.

Bob Conte leaves his boundless energy to next year's senior class president, also a bottle of Geritol.

Armande Beauregard leaves her collection of colored sneakers to Lucy Petrosian so from now on Lucy may be called a spoiled brat.

Emile Blanchette leaves his black book of memories to any underclassman who dares to follow in his footsteps.

Joan Callahan leaves to Eileen Baldiga a book entitled "How to Wrestle Without Breaking Arms."

Ronald Beauregard leaves his happy-go-lucky ways to Pete Merlet.

Albert Allard leaves as noisily as he entered.

Arthur Anderson just leaves.
